La construction transatlantique d'identités noires Jan 12

2021 Il y a près de quinze ans L'Atlantique noir de Paul Gilroy révolutionnait notre regard en mettant cet océan au coeur de l'histoire des Africains. Les textes réunis ici par Livio Sansone, Elisée Soumonni et Boubacar Barry à l'issue d'un colloque tenu à Gorée en 2002, prolongent cette nouvelle approche des identités africaines. La racialisation des Noirs apparaît comme une réalité moderne, inscrite dans une histoire, celle des séquelles de la traite, et dans un espace, l'Atlantique. Ce livre est un antidote aux images négatives de l'Afrique, mais aussi contre tous les fantasmes passésistes, qui font écho, à l'envers, aux préjugés européens. La négritude avait exprimé la quête d'un resourcement dans les origines, dans une identité noire substantielle, avec le risque du maintien idéologique hors d'une histoire pourtant bel et bien vécue par les Africains, qu'ils soient en Afrique, aux Amériques ou ailleurs. Depuis plus de trois siècles, l'imaginaire africain s'est en fait construit sur les deux rives de l'océan, sur un horizon transcontinental. Si les cultures africaines anciennes ont marqué le monde issu des plantations esclavagistes américaines, les sociétés africaines contemporaines ont été en quelque sorte " blackisées ", non pas dans le regard méprisant venu d'Europe, mais dans le regard combatif venu des Amériques. Les musiques et les cuisines ont circulé dans les deux sens. En soulignant cette ouverture internationale, ce livre montre la richesse d'une réalité africaine trop souvent caricaturée de manière manichéenne. En Afrique même, après avoir été le dangereux horizon qui inspirait les assignations ethniques et raciales, celui des comptoirs de traite, l'Atlantique est devenu porteur d'espoir, celui du message panafricaniste des Africains d'Amérique. Une complexité analogue est décryptée sur le versant sud d'outre-Atlantique. Le cas brésilien est le plus développé dans cet ouvrage, un pays qui est l'exemple même d'une complexité non réductible à une opposition binaire Noirs-Blancs : lieu de mémoire du passé esclavagiste, comme l'avait déjà montré Pierre Verger en 1968, il est aussi devenu un foyer de recomposition et de renaissance des sociétés noires, ouvert sur le monde.

Law in the New Testament Jun 16 2021 This is a valuable book.....It is a work of wide learning. It deals with a topic which, as the author states in his preface, has been much neglected in spite of the fact that biblical scholars and theologians have always paid lip service to the importance of law in Jewish life. It is a book which should be on the library shelf of every serious student of the New Testament. - Fr. Pius, O.F.M.C. Franciscan Friary, Crawley. J. Duncan M. Derrett was, until his retirement, Professor of Oriental Laws at the University of London. He has author works on legal history as well as 'Jesus's Audience', 'Studies in the New Testament' (6 vols.), 'The Sermon on the Mount', 'The Anastasis', and 'The Bible and the Buddhists'.

Practical Materials Characterization Aug 26 2019 Practical Materials Characterization covers the most common materials analysis techniques in a single volume. It stands as a quick reference for experienced users, as a learning tool for students, and as a guide for the understanding of typical data interpretation for anyone looking at results from a range of analytical techniques. The book includes analytical methods covering microstructural, surface, morphological, and optical characterization of materials with emphasis on microscopic structural, electronic, biological, and mechanical properties. Many examples in this volume cover cutting-edge technologies such as nanomaterials and life sciences.

Twice Neokoros Apr 26 2022 This is a case study of the Cult of the Sebastoi that was established in the city of Ephesus by the province of Asia during the late first century CE. It served as a prototypical manifestation of socio-religious developments during the late first and early second centuries in the Eastern Mediterranean.

Analytical Techniques in the Pharmaceutical Sciences Sep 19 2021 The aim of this book is to present a range of analytical methods that can be used in formulation design and development and focus on how these systems can be applied to understand formulation components and the dosage form these build. To effectively design and exploit drug delivery systems, the underlying characteristic of a dosage form must be understood-- from the characteristics of the individual formulation components, to how they act and interact within the formulation, and finally, to how this formulation responds in different biological environments. To achieve this, there is a wide range of analytical techniques that can be adopted to understand and elucidate the mechanics of drug delivery and drug formulation. Such methods include e.g. spectroscopic analysis, diffractometric analysis, thermal investigations, surface analytical techniques, particle size analysis, rheological techniques, methods to characterize drug stability and release, and biological analysis in appropriate cell and animal models. Whilst each of these methods can encompass a full research area in their own right, formulation scientists must be able to effectively apply these methods to the delivery system they are considering. The information in this book is designed to support researchers in their ability to fully characterize and analyze a range of delivery systems, using an appropriate selection of analytical techniques. Due to its consideration of regulatory approval, this book will also be suitable for industrial researchers both at early stage up to pre-clinical research.

Incentivizing and retaining public servants in remote areas: A discrete choice experiment with agricultural extension agents in Ethiopia Aug 19 2021 Increased deployment of agricultural extension agents (EAs) in rural areas is grounded on their importance to spur agricultural productivity and mitigate spatial imbalances in welfare. However, the high turnover and the low motivation levels of EAs in remote areas pose challenges for equitable service provision and, in some cases, exacerbates geographic disparities. We assess the effectiveness of selected potential policy interventions to incentivize and retain EAs in remote areas of Ethiopia. To this end, we conducted a choice experiment to elicit preferences for job attributes of 761 EAs.

We applied a random parameters logit model to estimate parameters of interest and to simulate the impact of possible policy interventions. The main results show that offering continuing education opportunities after two years of service increases uptake of an extension job in remote locations by 77 percentage points, which is significantly higher than the effect from doubling current salary levels (70 percentage points). EAs also expressed a strong preference for work environments with basic amenities, housing, transportation services, and well-equipped Farmer Training Centers (FTCs). Furthermore, the results from sub-sample analyses show that female EAs are less responsive to pecuniary incentives and are more concerned with the availability of infrastructure and services. Current salary levels, years of employment, and location of work are also important sources of heterogeneity in the response of EAs to potential policy changes.

Byzantium After Byzantium Dec 11 2020 Originally published in French in 1935, the author's formula Byzantium after Byzantium defines several centuries of world history. Iorga points out the great contributions of Byzantine civilization to the Western world, especially during the Renaissance. He demonstrates that Byzantium survived through its people and local autonomies, as well as through its exiles--clerics, scholars, merchants, and political officials. One of the most important expressions of this was found in the Romanian principalities where Greeks from the Phanar district of Istanbul played a major role in Romanian political life, defining an entire period of Romanian history--the Phanariot Period. They continued the Byzantine ideas, aspirations, education, and way of life. All of this allows us to speak of a Byzantium after Byzantium.

Environmental and Natural Resource Economics Mar 26 2022 This textbook discusses environmental and natural resource economics. It presents foundational knowledge for applying economics to understand environmental economics as well as for managing environmental problems and optimizing the level of natural resource extraction. Environmental and Natural Resource Economics bridges knowledge between the major natural environmental issues and which economic policies could be applied for reducing human impacts on such issues. It is distinctive from other environmental economics textbooks by covering not only basic concepts introduced in environmental economics but also explains economic models developed in resource economics for optimizing the use of non-renewable and renewable resources for sustainability. This textbook will help students understand how to apply economics for utilizing policies to mitigate environmental issues caused from the output side of economic activities such as emitting pollutants or generating wastes and those derived from the input side such as natural resource extractions.

The Sarmatians Jul 18 2021

Economics of Renewable Energy Mar 02 2020 The book provides a comprehensive review of renewable energy from an economic perspective throughout the last two hundred years, starting from traditional renewable energy based on bio and hydro energy. The focus is on modern renewable energy based on geothermal, wind, and solar energy. It emerged when innovative entrepreneurs captured opportunities for valuable energy services. As the services with renewable energy expanded, the costs of technologies decreased entailing global commercialisation. This enables larger access to energy and emission reduction of carbon dioxide, but also causes larger differences in the energy resources across countries which impedes international policies. That optimistic viewpoint on the shift to the global low-carbon economy is largely based on statistical data about purchasing power, energy consumption and businesses, and valuable energy services in many countries on all continents. The data are presented in 70 tables, graphs, and figures, most of them original. Interpretation of the data are useful in support of decisions making about sustainable development in civil society, businesses, and policy makers as well as for the verifications of scholarly hypotheses and projections in energy and climate policies.

Cultural Tourism Oct 28 2019 Cultural Tourism remains the only book to bridge the gap between cultural tourism and cultural and heritage management. The first edition illustrated how heritage and tourism goals can be integrated in a management and marketing framework to produce sustainable cultural tourism. The current edition takes this further to base the discussion of cultural tourism in the theory and practice of cultural and heritage management (CM and CHM), under the understanding that for tourism to thrive, a balanced approach to the resource base it uses must be maintained. An ‘umbrella approach’ to cultural tourism represents a unique feature of the book, proposing solutions to achieve an optimal outcome for all sectors. Reflecting the many important developments in the field this new edition has been completely revised and updated in the following ways: • New sections on tangible and intangible cultural heritage and world heritage sites. • Expanded material on cultural tourism product development, the cultural tourism market and consumer behaviour, planning and delivery of exceptional experiences • New case studies throughout drawn from cultural attractions in developing countries such as Southeast Asia, China, South Africa and the Pacific as well as from the developed world, particularly the United States, Britain, Japan, Singapore, Australia and Canada. Written by experts in both tourism and cultural heritage management, this book will enable professionals and students to gain a better understanding of their own and each other's roles in achieving sustainable cultural tourism. It provides a blueprint for producing top-quality, long-term cultural tourism products.

Brésil quatre siècles d'esclavage Apr 02 2020 La recherche brésilienne sur l'esclavage est l'une des plus riches au monde. Cet ensemble de textes souhaite en montrer la vitalité mais aussi les « accents ». Sans jamais se déprendre d'une rigueur qui les conduit à n'avancer que pas à pas dans la démonstration et en s'appuyant toujours sur une source explicitement convoquée, les chercheurs brésiliens semblent être devenus de plus en plus soucieux, ces dernières années, des pièges de la mise en récit et de l'illusion narrative. Ils sont experts dans l'art de tresser les diverses histoires possibles (ou probables) que les sources permettent d'imaginer à partir des représentations contrastées qu'elles conservent. Ils ont appris à lire les paroles couchées sur le papier pour en faire renaître, au-delà du propos, les intentions, les effets attendus, les ruses, les tours rhétoriques. Par là, ils dévoilent de plus en plus clairement la parole dominée dans l'acte même qui tente de la réduire. Si les esclaves qui ont vécu au Brésil n'ont jamais laissé, à de très rares exceptions près, de traces directes de leurs mots, ils sont certainement aujourd'hui ceux qui, par-delà le temps, parviennent le plus efficacement à se faire entendre.

Cultural and Heritage Tourism in the Middle East and North Africa Dec 31 2019 This is the first book to provide a comprehensive account of cultural and heritage tourism in the Middle East and North Africa (MENA) region and the many complexities that heritage sites and tourist attractions face. The MENA region has long been regarded as the cradle of Western and Arab civilisation and is the home of many of the world's major religions. Because of this, the region is rich in heritage sites that serve as major tourist attractions and as icons of national, cultural and religious identity. However, as this book examines, heritage in the region is simultaneously highly contested and has even become a target for terrorism creating a situation that brought major challenges for heritage management and sustainable tourism development. Many of the region's innumerable cultural sites are threatened, in some cases by overuse, in others by neglect and, in many, simply by the pressures of economic development. This book is therefore of interest not only to heritage managers and policy makers but those academics who seek to address the delicate balance between tourism development, communities and the tourists who visit such sites in a turbulent but highly significant region of the world.

Mozart and Magdalena Apr 14 2021 Concert for Magdalena (novel): Mozart and Magdalena (screenplay). With Mozart's brilliant music career and performances in the background, (1789 – 1791) the story deals with the passionate love between W.A.MOZART (35) and MAGDALENA POKORNY (25), which ends in a tragedy, causing MOZART'S death. FRANZ HOFDEMEL (35), MAGDALENA'S husband, attacks and kills MOZART, takes his own life and leaves MAGDALENA horribly disfigured. MAGDALENA gives birth to MOZART'S child in 1792 and the child dies in 1804.

Martial, Book VII. A Commentary Oct 01 2022 This is the first comprehensive commentary –line by line and word by word- on the seventh book of the epigrams of Martial. Literary, linguistic and metrical matters are examined in depth, and special attention is paid to the relationship with the poet's other books and with the rest of Greek and Latin Literature, as well as to the use of recurrent motifs, obscene language, puns, double meanings and proper names.

The Jeu d'Adam Nov 02 2022 The Jeu d'Adam is an Anglo-Norman mid-twelfth-century representation of several biblical stories, including the temptation of Adam and Eve and the subsequent fall, Cain and Abel, and the prophets Isaiah and Daniel. Its framework builds on the Latin responses of the mass during the liturgical season of Septuagesima, from before Lent to Easter. This collection of essays explores whether this early play was monastic or secular, its Anglo-Norman character, and the text's musical provenance.

Laboring Along Aug 31 2022 Products of war rather than revolution, the socialist regimes of Eastern Europe emerged in a global conjuncture defined by the aftermath of the Second World War. How did these regimes manage to overcome the domestic impact of the war and build socialism at the same time? This book shows how a commitment to productivity structured the transition from the period of postwar reconstruction to the take-off of industrial development during the late 1950s. Conceived as (1) pacification of labor relations, (2) the recovery of managerial authority, (3) monetarization of everyday life, (4) rationalization and (5) austerity, the politics of productivity provides a comprehensive conceptual framework for grasping together the end of the postwar period and the building of state socialism in Eastern Europe. By revealing how the social consequences of the Second World War were absorbed in the transition to authoritarian state socialism in the age of the rolling steel mill, this book carries implications for the way in which we may think about the aftermath of wars, reconstruction and development during the second half of the twentieth century.

Consumer Behaviour in Tourism Feb 22 2022 Now fully revised and updated, the third edition of this bestselling text provides students with a vital understanding of the nature of tourism and contemporary tourists behaviour in political, social and economic context and how this knowledge can be used to manage and market effectively in a variety of tourism sectors including: tourism operations, tourist destinations, hospitality, visitor attractions, retail travel and transport. This third edition has been updated to include: New material on the impacts of IT on research and marketing communications, the rise and influence of social media and virtual technology, the growth in the interest of sustainable tourism products including slow food, the experience economy and new consumer experiences including fulfilment. New international case studies throughout including growth regions such as the Middle East, Russia, Europe, China, India and Brazil. New companion website including Power point slides and a case archive. Each chapter features conclusions, discussion points and essay questions, and exercises, at the end, to help tutors direct student-centred learning and to allow the reader to check their understanding of what they have read. This book is an invaluable resource for students following tourism courses.
